What are you going to do?

We knew that Brad will put us in this position but besides the headlines, he will not go far unless he changes his strategy.

Ex. 5: predecisional and deliberative

I am curious to see what the strategy will be. Ex. 5: predecisional and predecisional and deliberative

Let's see.

I will fax to you tomorrow a draft ltr brad shard with us, which I expect he will send. You can divine from that what he will go after...and what alan may be concerned with. All alan mentioned is he expects we-epa- will be smeared in the press and we need to do something. Alan doesn't know what. Ex. 5: predecisional and deliberative

Clever. Yes. And we feed him amunition every day. Including on imperial oil. And so much more.

I'll try and call you tomorrow. I must admit I grow tired of this back and forth crap.

Kathy, I will be in the office tomorrow

Ex. 6: personal private information

Did Alan indicate that he supports dredging the river as proposed by Brad or he believes in early actions after we receive the data from our recent sampling efforts?

deliberative

Ex. 5: predecisional and deliberative

It would be interesting to see what Brad proposed. You have to admit he is very resourceful.

But I wanted to give you a heads up.

Alan says he will call you at home to discuss how we need to take an action on the passaic

To be continued. Sigh. Please be surprised.
